Adeline Brooks, colored, was fined $5 for fighting and Nellie Williams, white, and Gracie Price, colored, were fined $2.50 each for fast driving.

Arrested on Suspicion.
Walter Van Dyke and Sam'l. Meeks, two colored men, were arrested Sunday as suspicious characters. The men had a quantity of gold rings in their possession and as they told several different stories about where they were from, Chief Dyer locked them up. He will hold them for a week to see if they are wanted in other places.

Suit Against the N. & W. Still Pending.
The case of Laura Hayes vs. the Norfolk and Western, was not concluded in the Hastings Court yesterday. The testimony is all in and counsel were to have argued the instructions in the afternoon, but Judge Robertson, one of the counsel for the Norfolk and Western, was taken ill, and court adjourned until this morning.

Services at the First Presbyterian Church.
Owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. C. Campbell, the pulpit at the First Presbyterian Church was filled Sunday morning by Rev. Joseph Stras, who preached an excellent sermon from the text, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Mrs. Dr. Hodgson sang a solo, which was greatly enjoyed by the congregation.

M., held a meeting last night and appointed the following committee to confer with a committee to be appointed by Reliance Council as to the advisability of having a celebration on the Fourth of July: J. E. Boehm, G. W. Crumpecker, John Engleby, C. W. Thomas, J. B. Ambrosella and J. H. Looser. The above-named gentlemen are requested to meet to-night in the hall of Reliance Council.

Burglar in a Cigar Store.
A burglar broke into the cigar store of Fleming Loving on Salem avenue some time Sunday morning and stole a quantity of valuable pipes, some cigars and tobacco and a $25 clock. The thief effected an entrance through the back window and when he went out he left the back door wide open. The store of Gilkeson & Childs, on Jefferson street, was also entered Sunday night from the rear and some shirts and other articles taken.

More Negro Miners Sent from Roanoke.
James A. Pugh sent ninety colored laborers yesterday to the Fick Coal and Coke Company's works at Mount Pleasant, Pa., in charge of J. M. Atkinson, a member of the company. Quite a number who had intended going were dissuaded from doing so by several busybodies of the town, who made false statements to the effect that there was trouble at these mines, and the men would have to work under the protection of armed guards. There is not a word of truth in this. Another lot will be sent out Friday or Saturday.

Turned the Electric Car Switch.
Joseph Barnard, a small white boy, was arrested yesterday forenoon on a novel charge. It is claimed that he turned the switch on the Jefferson street line of the electric street railway, opposite the residence of E. H. Stewart. A collision between two cars was narrowly averted. The motorman on one of the cars brought the boy into the city and turned him over to Officer Rigney, who locked him up. Later in the day the motorman telephoned to Police Justice Turner that he would not prosecute the boy and the justice, after a good lecture, released him.

Big Inducements.
Some of the biggest bargains in pianos ever offered by Hobbie Music Company will be sold during next week. We use the word "sold" advisedly, because they always sell their bargains readily, for they are bargains.

Featherstone Gets the Medal Again.
The Roanoke Light Infantry held a competitive drill in their armory last night for the purpose of determining who should wear the Silverthorn medal for the next three months. About twenty-five members participated and the contest was a spirited one. It soon narrowed down between Privates N. R. Featherstone, Van Lew and Cunningham, the former being finally declared the winner. The company was drilled by Lieutenant Hatcher, who, together with Captain Moss and Lieutenant Cook, acted as judges. A large number of ladies and gentlemen were present, and the victor was liberally applauded. This is the second time Mr. Featherstone has won this medal and he also possesses the drum corps medal, drilled for some time ago. Rev. R. C. Anderson, chaplain of the company, presented the medal to the victor in a neat little speech, and then the rest of the evening was devoted to social enjoyment, during which refreshments were served.

Resignation of a Prominent Hollins Instructor.

Professor Rodas Massie has resigned from the department of English language and literature at Hollins Institute. During the last forty years the department has been filled by very distinguished men, including Dr. A. B. Brown, of wide reputation, the late Joseph A. Turner, Dr. D. W. Gwyn, Professor Savage, of New York, Professor W. T. Thomas, and others. The vacancy will be filled as soon as an able and adapted successor can be secured. This department some years ago competed for the London Shakespearean prizes offered for advanced studies in Shakespearean literature and succeeded every time.

Randolph-Macon Academy.

FRONT ROYAL, Va., June 18.—The commencement sermon of the Randolph-Macon Academy, Front Royal, Va., was preached by Bishop J. C. Granberry, D. D., from the text: "Let us hear the conclusion: Fear God and keep His commandments, for this is the whole of man." Friday evening the concluding commencement exercises were held in the academy building before a large and attentive audience.

The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. W. J. Young, D. D., of Richmond, Va. Next came the delivering of the medals and the reading of the roll of honor. Friends in the town made the occasion more enjoyable by giving some of their select pieces of music. Parting words were spoken by the principal, Dr. B. W. Bond, in which he referred to the signally successful year just ended and the bright prospect for the future.

For Over Fifty Years.
Mrs. Winklow's Sooting-Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pains, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Twenty-five cts a bottle. Send 5 cts for a trial bottle. Write the world.

THERE WAS NO STRING TO IT.

But He Had Abundant Reason Nevertheless to Be Suspicious.

There was a bright new 50 cent piece lying on the pavement on Jefferson avenue, near Griswold street, when a boy backed man with a satchel came along from the depot. He saw the coin while he was yet 20 feet away, and he made a sudden forward rush to get it. The movement was almost instantly checked, however, and he walked slowly forward and backed to the curbstone and stood there and gazed at the coin with a foxy look on his countenance. In about a minute a pedestrian came up, saw the coin and reached for it and put it in his pocket. Observing the attitude of the old man at the same time he turned and queried:

"It didn't belong to you, did it?"
"Waal, I swan!" was the reply.
"What's the matter?"

"This is the queerest turned town I ever struck in all my life. I was coming up this street last year about this time when I saw a 50 cent piece lyin just about here. I made a grab for it, fell on my nose and rolled all over and finally got up to find that a boy had a string on the money and had pulled it into that doorway."

"And so you were shy of this one?"
"Yasas, I was shy."

"And are half a dollar behind the game?"
"Yasas, I'm half a dollar out. Say, are you in a hurry?"

"Yes—great hurry."
"Waal, I'll hev to find somebody else then. I want to find a feller who'll sot down with me for about two hours and post me up. I'm comin into Detroit once a week now, and I want to find out what's got strings to it and what's lyin around loose and kin be picked up."—Detroit Free Press.

A Countryman's Suggestion.

A countryman who boarded the first boat New Yorker at her berth at the Battery the other day was interested to observe the completeness of her equipment for fighting fire along the river front. Her powerful pumps and ingenious arrangements for directing the streams upon burning buildings or into the holds of vessels filled him with admiration. Then he asked the engineer to show him the workings of the searchlight. He took it for granted that there was one and was amazed to learn that there was no electrical plant at all on the boat. This would appear to be a curious deficiency in a boat otherwise perfectly appointed, and it is difficult to see how so obvious a need could have been overlooked in the building of the New Yorker. The countryman's discovery has led to a discussion of the need of a searchlight and may lead to its introduction on the boat. It is admitted that such a light would be of the greatest value to the New Yorker in finding its way at night about among the crowded and tangled slips. It would, moreover, make it possible to direct a powerful light upon the fronts of warehouses, to the very great assistance of the firemen. Electric lights on the boat would also be supplied in place of the old fashioned oil lamps that are now in use.—New York Sun.

How He Wore His Shoes.

"I'll bet my one in the party," Colonel Jack Gambill said to a group of acquaintances one day, "that I did something when a growing boy out in old Tennessee that has never been done by any one before or since."

"What was that, colonel?"

"I wore out my first pair of shoes without both feet being shod at the same time."

"Explain."

"You see, it was this way. Shoes were a novelty to me. The shoemaker was slow, and I was impatient, as all boys are, for a new thing. He finished one of the shoes on a Saturday and told me I would have to wait another week for its fellow. I couldn't stand that, so I took the one shoe and wore it to such an extent that when I went for the other I had to leave the first one for repairs. It went on this way week after week, and somehow I never could bring that pair of shoes together on my feet. The family was too poor to think of buying me an additional pair. Odd thing, wasn't it, to have one foot in leather and paddling the hoof with the other? Boys'll do queer things sometimes."—San Francisco Call.

The Natural Death.

The natural death is no utopian dream. Both longevity and euthanasia are within the reach of mankind. Not a few have already secured both, while many more may find them. I have seen the man. He was old. He had neither pain, anger nor sorrow. Finally his intellect began to lose its power. His ambition changed to a desire for repose. His ideas of space, time and duty lingered for a moment, then passed away. Step by step his powers waned. Happily, painlessly, carelessly the moments flew. The merry sounds of youth at play and the hum of the busy world only rocked him gently to sleep. On and on he passed until his intellect ceased and consciousness was no more. This is the true euthanasia. It suggests no terror; it inflicts no pain; it brings no agony.—Dr. J. Hobart Egbert in Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

Kissing.

It was a woman of the world who said: "Kissing is like any other intoxicant; once you cultivate a taste for it there is no such thing as getting enough of it." And it was a young matron with a heart full of love for her firstborn who declared in the very face of the crusty old doctor's learned objections to kissing that as long as there were mothers and babies in the world there would be kissing ad libitum.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Comforting.

Patient—Well, doctor, how's my lung?
Doctor—Pretty fair—it will last as long as you live.—Halla.

THE WORLD PROGRESSES.

Although it Took Five Thousand Years to Make a Discovery.

History Repeats Itself—What Charles the First's Physician Did, and What Modern Chemists and Discoverers are Doing.

Thousands of people saw Charles I. beheaded in 1648. It was a great show, a genuine tragedy, and free to the public.

Yet in all that crowd there was but one man who knew why the blood spurted from the dissevered arteries in the monarch's neck. That was Dr. Harvey, the king's physician. He had announced the circulation of the blood, and in so doing he started a tremendous scandal. People called him a fool, a meddler, a madman. They said he ought to be sent to the block.

What a lucky thing it was that the Puritans chopped off the king's head instead of Harvey's. A king more or less doesn't matter, but a thinker more or less does.

Thank mercy, it's safer now to tell new truth than it was 250 years ago. That's why we are not afraid to publish these letters, nor to talk freely about what they mean.

First: "I have a sister—a young lady of 21 years. She has been troubled with constipation in the worst form, also with catarrh of the stomach and bowels and prostration of the nerves. She suffered everything short of death, and would break down in nervous crying spells. We spent much money with doctors in Chicago and Ludington, but none of them were able to help her. We saw some statements in the papers, and resolved to try the new pre-digested food remedy. Previous to that time she found nothing that would move her bowels without the aid of the syringe."

"But what a change! Paskola, the new pre-digested food, is doing wonderful work with her. Although, up to date, she has taken it only about a week the trembling has stopped, she is regular twice a day and has no more crying spells. Her sleep, which has been broken and wretched, is now sound and refreshing. She eats heartily and feels like another person. We are so thankful; and I feel it my duty to make known the facts. Yours, etc., Sidney C. Gay, Ludington, Mich., March 26, 1894."

Another:—"I began taking Paskola January 1, 1894. I had been sick in bed seven or eight weeks and could not turn myself in bed without help. I had no appetite—could take nothing but a little milk and water, and even that was hard work. But the doctor said I must have some nourishment. I was growing weaker and weaker, and my friends and the doctor thought I must go down."

"The first dose of Paskola gave a little appetite and I began to revive. My strength increased so that in a week from the time I took the first dose I weighed 83 pounds, and the next week I weighed 88 pounds. In five weeks I gained 80 pounds. My general weight is from 140 to 150 pounds; so you can see how run down I was. I feel my strength increasing every day. For years I have suffered with indigestion and constipation, and had doctored and taken this and that without avail. I can now truly say that with the help of the good Lord Paskola has done a wonderful work for me. Yours truly, J. Calvin Barnard, Loudon, N. H., Feb. 14, 1894."

Paskola is not a medicine at all, but an artificially digested starch food which (because it is digested in advance) leaves the tired and perhaps abused digestive organs to rest and get well, while the body grows strong and plump on Paskola and other food taken with it and digested by it.

Wonderful and yet simple idea! Why wasn't it put into force long ago? From what death-dealing avalanches of drugs, saturated with cod liver oil, would it not have saved the human race!

We don't know. Why were men 5,000 years finding out the fact that the blood circulates in the human body? Yet there the truth was, hammering away inside of them all the while.

But one thing is sure. Having discovered at last that disease—functional disturbance through mal-nutrition—is cured, not by sending poisonous drugs to run amuck through the system, but by means of Paskola, we shall continue to announce the truth, and the army of the pale, thin, weak, run down and emaciated will continue to take the new food remedy, get well and write thankful letters.

Paskola may be obtained of any reputable druggist. A pamphlet on food digestion will be mailed free on application to the Pre-Digested Food Company, 30 Reade street, New York.

For sale by Johnson & Johnson, corner Salem avenue and Jefferson street.

COMMISSIONERS' SALE.

SALE OF VALUABLE IRON MINES IN Franklin county, Virginia.—Pursuant to a decree entered on the 24th day of October, 1893, by the circuit court of Franklin county, in three suits pending therein and heard together under the title of Hale vs. Saunders and al.; Harman vs. Saunders and al.; and Hale vs. R. H. Saunders administrators, we the undersigned, duly appointed commissioners by the said court for the purpose, will offer for sale to the highest bidder at public auction in the city of Roanoke, Virginia, in front of the courthouse, on the 18th day of July, 1894, the ore privileges conveyed by Sam. Prillman and wife to Peter Saunders, Sr., by deed dated 28th of January, 1848, and of record in the clerk's office of the county court of said county.

Said land lies on the headwaters of Tower Creek, in Franklin county, immediately on the W. S. division of the Norfolk and Western railroad, near Prillman's flag station. The said deed conveyed all the iron ore upon the lands of the grantor lying on the headwaters of Tower Creek, in Franklin county, with the usual rights of ingress and egress, etc. The tract contains about 40 acres. These mines have been worked heretofore and proved to contain iron ore of good quality in large quantities; have recently been thoroughly prospected and a large sum of money offered for same, but deal was not consummated on account of defective title, which these proceedings cure.
